

What we have been learning this week in Reception

Week ending 3rd July 2009

- Transition

Children spent a fantastic day with their new Year One teachers on Wednesday. They were very sensible and grown-up as they started their day quickly, moving to their new classroom together. The children were very happy to get the chance of a 'sneak preview' of their new class and teacher and the children have returned full of excitement and stories about their September destinations!

- Reading Books

As the term begins to wind down, we will not be sending any more reading books home for you to read with your child. Instead we will be using our reading time to collect and books we have sent home. Similarly, we will not be sending home library books each morning. Please use the next few days to check at home for any books we have sent home that may still be there. Any that you find can be returned to your child's class teacher.

- Hot weather

Please continue to send your children to school with sun hats and sun cream as the hot weather persists. Encourage your children to get into the habit of seeking shade and water when it (and they!) get hot.

We have become aware of a number of cases of head lice (nits) within school. Please check your child's hair regularly and treat as appropriate. Your chemist can advise the best course of treatment for your child.

Thank you for your continued support.

Best wishes,

The Reception Team.
